BAR 4 YOUR STYLE

Cast bars are most often created by pouring melted gold into a mould. Cast bars would normally have a rough finish. Mint bars are most often created by cutting specific shapes, usually rectangular, from large cast bars which have been rolled to a specific thickness.

The shapes, called blanks, are then minted or 'struck' to a very high finish using a precision minting press which adds the bar's intricate design. Hence the name minted bars.

The Muamalat Gold currently produces over 30 minted gold and silver bars and coins in a range of weights and sizes. Minted gold bars have been produced by the Mint since 2018.
